Candidates Announce For May Primary Race

C of C Plans Stock Show

The second annual Mall-Junior Livestock Show combination in Cameron is scheduled for Saturday, January 23, according to Cameron Chamber officials.

Plans include a repeat of the 1959 record - smasher that attracted about 5,000 countians to a two - day livestock show - Mall display combination.

About $500 in cash prizes will go to junior livestock growers in three divisions -- swine, beef and dairy cattle, according to O. A. White, chairman of the Chamber Livestock committee.

Final arrangements include a Mall showing of farm equipment, feed and new cars.

Highlight of the program will be the day - long showing of Milam County's Junior livestock growers that include members of county FFA and 4-H Club boys and girls.

Officials expect about 100 entries this year, according to John S. Batte, livestock show chairman.

The $500 prize money will be divided among winners in all divisions. Judges from Texas A & M College, College Station, will review the entries and judge them on the point system, Batte said.

The four streets surrounding the Milam Courthouse will be closed off for the Mall showing of farm equipment, feed and new cars.

The Livestock Show will be held on the east side of the courthouse, the same location used in 1959. Judging will begin at noon that day, continuing through the afternoon.

An amateur judging contest will be held before official judging begins, Batte noted.

Besides cash prizes, blue, white and red ribbons will be awarded winners.

White said the livestock committee and Cameron Chamber officials are expecting an even larger crowd this year. The two-day showing last January attracted crowds to see the livestock and Mall and make savings presented by Cameron businesses.

C of C MANAGER — Wilburn (Jack) DuBois, office manager for a Cameron business concern, will assume duties as Cameron Chamber manager Monday. He succeeds Richard Moseley, who will operate an insurance service and a variety store in Bartlett. DuBois will maintain office hours five and one-half days a week.

Ol' 100 With F. M. L.

We heard a story the other day about the Early West horse trader who used to assure himself of sales, even when the mules or horses in question weren't quite up tp par.

So the story goes, the old boy would bring his animals in for sale.

If they didn't seem quite up to par before the sale started, he would toss a little fire water down their gullets, allow about an hour for the stuff to take effect and then have the liveliest swaybacks in the country .. and sell 'em.

100 - 100 - 100

That's a pretty effective kind of influence. It kind of reminds us of the TV or movie image of the Redskin who always goes wild once he gets hold of a jug of the white man's poison.

He is usually seen vaulting through his teepee to a fair thee well, grabbing his 30 - 30 and riding off to the nearest wagon train for a melee with the invaders who chased his buffalo off the range.

100 - 100 - 100

This image is steeped in as much fact as fiction. It was an early - day rendition of change and the first - stage effects of change on the invader and the invaded.

Ultimately the Indian (according to tradition) ended up on government reservation, or in the case of Oklahoma Indians, with the worse case of oil wellitess exploration could produce.

Then there is a latter - day piece of advice given to all would-be column writers like Ol' 100. It seems to apply here.

"You ought to go on the stage," goes the advice. "It's leaving in about half an hour".

Two Cars Collide In Downtown Area

Police Chief Chester Simons today reported one accident over the New Year holiday in an otherwise quiet opening week.

He said that cars driven by Mrs. Clara Mae Reimer, 37, Cameron, and Mrs. Vera G. Hauk, 52, Cameron collided about 2:55 p. m. Monday in the 100 block of North Houston.

Neither driver was injured. Damage to the Reimer 1954 Oldsmobile was estimated at $50 and to the Hauk 1953 Chevrolet at $75.

Mrs. Reimer was backing onto the street and Mrs. Hauk was driving north on Houston.

LL Park Nears Final Completion, Official Reports

Cameron Little League officials this week reported that construction of the Little League Park at the old Milam Institute site would probably be finished by February 1.

Chester Simons, league vice - president, said that a 1,080 - foot chainlink fence had been installed completely around the ballpark and the field had been leveled for proper drainage by city workmen.

He reported that about $2,000 had been raised for construction of the park, but that an additional $900 would be needed for lights and light poles that had not been figured in the initial cost.

Included in the park plans are wooden bleachers to seat 1,100 people for the summer baseball program.

The 275 - foot park is large enough both for Little League and Babe Ruth League competition as well as high - school - age players.

"With favorable weather conditions," Simons continued, "the light poles should be set this week prior to construction of the backstop."

Money for the project was donated by Cameron civic clubs, businesses and individuals.

Simons said League workers appreciated the co - operation of everyone in Cameron who helped raise the money or contributed time and effort toward completion of the field.

It will be opened this summer for both Little and Babe Ruth League teams, Simons said. Officials hope to meet requirements of the national organization to be able to enter local teams in games against towns in the Central Texas area.

Belgian Poultryman Visits Milam Firm To Review Technics

From Oudenaarde in Belgium to Cameron, Texas is a "Fur piece" even as the airlines fly.

But Belgian Poultryman L. Vanwynsberghe flew the thousands of miles across the sea to get a first-hand look at American poultry breeding practices.

Vanwynsberghe visited the Ideal Hatchery and Poultry Breeding Farm at Cameron to confer with Ideal officials about the teachniques and practices that have produced Ideal H-3-W strain-cross leghorns.

Euro-Poultry, of Ondenaarde, Belgium, Vanwynsberghe's firm, is a franchised Ideal H-3-W distributor in Europe. H-3-W parent stock birds from the Ideal Breeding Farm are reportedly performing well in the Belgian environment, according to Ideal's founder Leo Fuchs.

Escapees Await Return To Pen

Two escaped convicts and a third man who transported the Durham, N. C. state penitentiary escapees to Thorndale are in the Milam County Jail today, awaiting pickup by North Carolina authorities.

Sheriff Carl Black told The Herald that he arrested Alton Reardon, 42, Dewey Lee Duncan, 26, and James Duncan, 23, all of North Carolina, at Thorndale last Friday.

They were arrested at the Thorndale home of Reardon's brother, Black said.

Black said the trio gave him no trouble and he placed the men in the Milam County jailhouse Friday.

The men are being held until officials from the North Carolina state penitentiary pick them up today.

Both Reardon and Dewey Lee Duncan waived extradition rights.

Black said the two men escaped from the penitentiary December 24. Reardon was serving a term for larceny and public drunkeness and Dewey Duncan was serving a year's term for conviction of drunk while driving.

Black noted that Dewey Duncan had escaped from a North Carolina reform school twice in 1954.

James Duncan, 23, had no previous record, Black told The Herald.

The Milam County law officer received a telegram from J. D. Wilson, supervisor of consolidated records of the North Carolina prison department, this week advising Black that officials would pick up the trio.

Guard Unit Lists Two Changes In Company Lineup

Milam County's National Guard Unit, Company C, 3d Medium Tank Battalion reported today it gained one new member and lost one during the first week of the new year.

It said it also will lose one of its officers later this month.

The new member was listed as Pfc. William E. Kelm. He transferred into Company C from the Scout and Mortor Platoon of Headquarters Company at Belton. Delm is employed by the Citizens National Bank here in Cameron.

Lost to the unit was one of its sergeants, Billy F. Daniel. Daniel enlisted in the regular Army and reported to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., for active duty on January 4th. He later will attend electronics school at Fort Carson, Colorado.

The officer which will be lost to the unit is 1st Lt. John C. Kinane. An accountant with Alcoa in Rockdale, Kinane just yesterday accepted a transfer to a new plant the Aluminum company has under construction in South America, R. R. Sugg, Works Manager announced. Lt. Kinane will be located at Brokopondo in British Guinea and employed as assistant storekeeper. He and his wife and children will leave for his new post late in January.

Group Includes Five Incumbents

The tempo of county politics this week took the upbeat as seven candidates announced for public office on the precinct, county, district and legislative levels.

Announcing this week in The Cameron Herald are:

W. R. POAGE, incumbent congressman, 11th U. S. Congressional District, for re - election .....

HERMAN YEZAK, incumbent state representative for Robertson-Milam Counties, for re - election..

ROBERT C. NELSON, incumbent county attorney, who will retire the post to run for Milam District judge .....

CARL C. BLACK, incumbent county sheriff, for re - election ...

VALTER WHITE, incumbent county tax assessor - collector, who will seek re - election .....

JACK PRESCOTT, Cameron attorney, who will seek election as county attorney .....

C. S. RANEY, incumbent county commissioner, Precinct 1, for re - election .....

Max McClaren, secretary of the Milam Democratic committee, said that five of the candidates had officially filed with him to place their names on the May 7 primary ballot.

They were upto noon Wenesday: Raney, Black, Yezak, White and Poage.

Rep. Poage, Waco, was the first to file with the election official last week.

The lineup of incumbents who have filed for re - election leaves only two present office holders unannounced. They are: Dist. Judge O. D. Graham and Commissioner Byron Neal, county precinct 3.

Also up for consideration on the May 7 Democratic primary ballot in the county are eight constable positions. But McClaren said he anticipated no large turnout of candidates for the posts.

McClaren said the filing deadline for candidates is February 1.

He noted last week that a second primary or runoff election would be scheduled June 2 if a runoff race was necessary in any place.

Thus far, Nelson and Prescott are the only candidates seeking offices they do not now hold.

This will be the first year that the Democratic primary will be held in May, McClaren said. Texas Legislature action during the last session moved the primary up to May 7. It previously has been held on the first Saturday in July.

Ordinance Stands

Garbage Issue Ires Group

Mayor Bassel Wilson Tuesday night held a rousing debate with a group of 30 Cameronties over the recently adopted city garbage ordinance, but the city law requiring residential and business service stayed on the books.

Wilson told the group at the regular council meeting after reading a statement of the city's postion on the new city service (three-times pickup in residential areas and six - day service where necessary in business houses) that "the law will be enforced as the ordinance now stands."

Charges and counter charges were exchanged in the 45 - minute discussion.

Some citizens were irate over compulsary institution of the service itself, while others expressed dissatisfaction with the way the ordinance was implemented.

Still others hewed cries of "dictatorial" and questioned "the principal of the thing" in the way the ordinance was passed.

City officials began discussion and outlining an ordinance subject to two public readings in August. It was finally read and approved in September.

Wilson cited recommendations forwarded by the Texas Department of Health last summer outlining methods of cleaning up Cameron and improving health conditions. One of the recommendations was a compulsory garbage pickup ordinance which would increase frequency of garbage service downtown and in residential areas and start trash service throughout the city.

It was the second delegation before the Council over the garbage ordinance, which went into effect December 1 and was to be billed on the monthly city water bill starting January 1.

Three weeks ago a group of Cameron business people appeared before the council to learn how original monthly charges of $3 per business per month and $1 per residence per month wer established.

Following the discussion December 16, the Council revised rate schedules the next morning to reduce residential service from $1 to 75 cents and business service from $3 each to a $1.50 minimum.

Businesses were divided into four categories in which each would pay according to the amount of trash and refuse collected each month.

Wilson said in a prepared statement that "the garbage and trash ordinance was brought on by pressure from the Texas Department of Health and Sanitation, the Milam County Health Unit and by other health authorities along with the desire of your city government to make this a cleaner, healther and better place in which to live."

Interrupted a number of times during the reading, Wilson said that "surely, you want Cameron to grow and prosper. Any progress will work a hardship on a small minority, but we must have progress or dry up on the stalk".

His statement cited a recent accounting of a "large number of cases of tuberculosis in Cameron and other communicable diseases ..... If a cleanup ordinance will help prevent just one person from contracting a contagious disease, I will say it is worth it and I for one citizen will not complain about the lousey 75 cents fee per month charged me."

One man asked whether the city had considered putting the issue before the people of Cameron before passing the resolution.

Wilson said the issue could be put on the ballot in regular city elections in April if people wanted the vote, but that "a tremendous amount of investigation was made from all angles and no one in this city government had any intentions of working a hardship on anyone."

After the delegation left, Drs. David Shapiro and T. E. Crump reiterated their recommendations that the ordinance be maintained for general improvement of health conditions in Cameron.

As the question stands, the ordinance will continue in effect with adjustments or inequities to be settled as city service steadies to regular routine, Wilson said.

Prior to the ordinance, the monthly pickup charge in the residential areas was 50 cents with an option for no service if it was not desired. The monthly city bill to the resident itemizes cost of water, sewer and garbage service.

In maintaining the statute, Wilson told the group that water service would be cut off if the entire bill was not paid. At least two of the group said they would not pay the garbage charge.

The garbage discussion was the sixth point on the council agenda. The meeting lasted about two hours after a one - hour executive session before the regular 5 p. m. council meeting began.

Rural Wrecks Show 150 Percent Drop

Milam County had 118 rural accidents during 1959 that killed four people and injured 38 others, Cameron officials of the Texas Highway Patrol reported today.

State Troopers John Blansit and Jack Straley said that 1959 rural accidents decreased 150 percent under those in 1958 and caused $90,480 estimated damage to vehicles.

Three persons were fatally injured in the 118 rural accidents. All the 118 rural accidents investigated by the State patrolmen were on dirt roads, the highway patrolmen reported.

A total of 184 vehicles were involved in the wrecks.

The troopers estimated that 20 to 25 percent of the accidents were investigated by other law officers or never reported.

City Studies Sewer Plan

City Councilmen discussed sewer service, a comprehensive sewer survey and city taxi franchises in a meeting Tuesday night.

These subjects were considered both before and after a group of Cameron citizens discussed the garbage ordinance with officials.

Councilmen also commended Hayden Lawrence, city councilman who died two weeks ago, in a joint resolution read by City Attorney Jack Prescott.

And they set the interest starting date on notes made by property owners participating in street construction, B. L. Miller, Cameron, asked that his note interest for paving be set for the same starting date as others. Councilmen agreed on starting all interest at July.

In other action councilmen discussed requests from an out - of-town firm for an exclusive taxi franchise following the closing of Lonnie's Taxi Company in Cameron.

Prescott said the city cannot legally grant an exclusive franchise. Cameron at present does not have a white taxicab service working.

Officials said Lonnie's Taxi business was closed by owner Lonnie Armstrong after a $50 per cab franchise was invoked by the city. Mayor Bassel Wilson said one or two Negro cab units had paid the franchise cost.

Councilmen also asked that City Water Supt. Alvin Hefft survey the sewerline needs for the city and give a report as soon as possible.

Councilmen met with representatives of Marvin Turner Engineers to discuss contract arrangements for a comprehensive engineering study of the city sewer and drainage needs. Cost of the initial survey would be $1,000. And a fee would be paid the engineering firm varying from 6.5 percent to 9.5 percent of the cost of the construction project.

In final action the council heard representatives of Southwest Bell Telephone Co. advise a two - month trial with a new fire department call number.

Fire Department members have had difficulty with busy signals on the two - line answering service now being used, Chief Carl Black told Councilmen.

The answering system is similar to ones used in other Central Texas cities of Cameron's size.

Nation's Farmer To See Slight Drop In Income

By J. D. Moore, County Agent

During the first nine months of 1959, realized net farm income in the United States averaged 15 percent below the same period in 1958. It is expected that the year 1960 will bring:

I A further slight drop in average prices received by farmers;

II Afurther slight rise in the costs of farm production and marketing;

III A further drop in realized net farm income.

Supply is the dominant factor - Since World War II the general trend of agricultural prices has been downward. During much of this time, supplies have been so large that prices have not responded to the very favorable development in demand.

Since World War II there has been upward trends in non - agricultural prices, in consumer income, in business investments and in other factors that contribute to a growing demand. The results of large supplies have been: I lower prices to the farmers; II Larger government stock of farm products; III Lower retail food prices to the consumer than otherwise would have occurred.

Total agricultural output of farm and ranch products in 1959 probably set a new record, slightly above the 1958 output and about 25 percent above the 1947 - 49 average. Agricultural output in 1959 might have been larger except for the Conservation Reserve, which retired 22.4 million acres from production.

The trend in crop yields has been upward in recent years. Increases in the yield of leading farm crops in the past decade have ranged from 20 percent to 75 percent. Total agricultural output will probably be large again in 1960.

Domestic demand for agricultural products to continue strong in 1960:

I The domestic demand for farm products have been strong most of the time since World War II.

II Population has grown more rapidly than expected.

III Consumer incomes have remained high since World War II.

IV Except for short periods of recession, employment has been high.

V Government programs have provided domestic outlets for large amounts of food. These factors in 1960 should be as strong as in 1959 and there is a very good possibility that they will be even stronger.

Garicultural exports in the present year, 1959 - 60, should be good - Agricultural exports in the fiscal year 1959 - 60 are expected to reach $4 billion. This will be the third highest in history, exceeded only by the exports of $4.7 billion in 1956 - 57 and $4.1 billion in 1951 - 52.

I Economic activity continues high in the principal importing areas of the world.

II The dollar shortage in importing countries has eased.

III Trade barriers are being reduced gradually.

IV Agricultural exports of surplus commodities are being bolstered and promoted through Government programs.

V Cotton exports will probably be higher than in 1958 - 59.

VI Exports of feed grains may be larger in the present year, 1959-60, than the record of last year.

VII Rice exports are expected to increase in the present year, 1959-60.

VIII Wheat and flour exports may drop in 1959 - 60.

IX Exports of dairy products may decline slightly.

Production costs to remain high in 1960 - There are some indications that the rise in farm costs may be tapering off, but not declining.

Prices paid by farmers in 1959 will average 2 percent higher than in 1958. Prices of industrial goods used in farm and ranch production will probably creep up still further in 1960. Even if there is some declines in the costs of farm - produced items of production, the prices paid index as a whole may average a little higher in 1960 than in 1959.

Marketing costs to continue high in 1960 - Costs of marketing have continued to move upward and there is no reason to believe that this trend will not continue in 1960. The farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar in 1959 will average about 38 cents, a post-war low.

Government programs in 1960 will be about the same as in 1959.

I Available funds will permit an expansion of about 5 million acres in the Conservation Reserve in 1960.

II Public Law 480, which gives assistance to Agricultural Exports, has been extended for a two year period, ending December 31, 1961.

III No major changes in Price-support levels will occur during 1960.

Farm assets still rising - Farmland values, farm assets, and rural levels of living have continued to rise, in spite of declines in agricultural prices and in farm income since 1951. However, trends in 1959 suggest that these increases may be tapering off.

The sharp rise in land prices of the past five years may be approaching an end. The drop in farm income in the last half of 1959, and the prospect of some further decline likely in 1960, may remove some of the stimulus to the farmland market. The longer range outlook for land values is also clouded by further building - up of crop inventories and by uncertainties as to changes in farm legislation. Current levels of interest rates and stronger competition for the available supply of mortgage credit may also postpone some purchases of land, particularly if these conditions are viewed as temporary.

However, the continuing pressures for enlargement of farms and the demand of farm operators, with surplus funds, for the limited number of tracts of land that come on the market will partly offset some of the price depressing factors in the land market. The prospects of further gains in the general economy, continuing inflationary pressures, and the conversion of farmland for non - farm uses are likely to continue to support land prices at a high level.

A fact to consider - Because of the substantial reduction in the number of farms and farm people, the decrease in per farm income, and in per capita income has been much less than the drop in aggregate farm income.

Rev. Putman will be ordained at his home Church at Jacinto City, Houston Sunday Jan. 31. The Burlington Baptist Church gave him a beautiful Bible at Christmas.

Mrs. Roy Lee Lindsey, Jr. and sons of Blum, Texas spent Christmas here with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lindsey Sr., Her husband is stationed at Greenland.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davenport and sons have returned from Houston where they visited during the holidays.

Watershed Projects Increase In Texas

COLLEGE STATION — Progress is being made in Texas as well as other states in working to control the loss from floods which affect the economy of the individual landowner as well as the entire watershed. Lynn Pittard, extension specialist in soil and water conservation, said 92 applications by small watershed groups in the State have been approved by the State Soil Conservagion Board. This will provide Federal funds for constructing flood control structures.

Of the 92, 20 have been approved and authorized for operations and 6 are presently in the process of planning. Acreage in the watersheds range from 20,000 to 240,000 and the number of structures required per watershed vary from 20 to 40. Pittard said the average cost per structure has been estimated at $50,000.

Assistance is provided for under the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act passed by the Federal Congress in 1954. Pittard pointed out that under terms of the Act, local landowners pay of the projects while the Federal government provides funds for the structures. The projects are initiated and administered by local organizations with the USDA providing technical assistance, cost sharing and credit in accordance with mutually agreed upon plans.

APRICOT DOUGHNUT RECIPE EARNS $100 FOR GIDDINGS GRANDMOTHER

'BAKING HEART' OF TEXAS IS CONTEST AREA

The Baking-Recipe-of-the-Month contest is unique because it is specially designed for a unique part of America —the Home Baking Heart of Texas.

Here, where delicious yeast breads are the pride of all good cooks, this continuing monthly contest invites friendly competition, and the exchange of outstanding recipe ideas, between every homemaker and her neighbors.

There will be new cash prizes every month, new opportunities for homemakers to win deserved recognition for their baking skill.

An extra benefit—particularly for women who have never experienced it—will be the deep satisfaction of working with Gladiola Hard Wheat Flour. It's the flour made expressly for yeast breads, Texas style.

MRS. MARTIN MOERBE, Giddings, Texas

'Couldn't make them without Gladiola Hard Wheat Flour,' says Mrs. Martin Moerbe

Tender raised doughnuts with shiny glaze and luscious hearts of apricot jam, created in the busy kitchen of Mrs. Martin Moerbe, Box 546, Giddings, Tex., have earned a special $100 award from the Gladiola Flour people as the Baking Recipe of the Month.

This recogaition of superior baking is a forerunner of the continuing monthly recipe contest announced by Gladiola in this issue of Glad Times.

Mrs. Moerbe is donating half the money to the building fund of Immanuel Lutheran Church in Giddings.

Has 5 Grandchildren

This month's baking award winner is the mother of four grown children and has five youngsters on her lengthening list of grandchildren. Her complete recipe, one of many sweet dough variations with which she has delighted her family through the years, is printed on this page for Glad Times readers.

Mrs. Moerbe's only worry now is that some women will use an all-purpose flour when they try her recipe. "Naturally they'll be disappointed, and they'll probably blame it on me. So please tell everybody I couldn't make these doughnuts without Gladiola Special Hard Wheat Flour."

Dough with Character

In Mrs. Moerbe's opinion, too many home bakers these days forget that the vital ingredient in yeast breads is flour. "That's where you win or lose," she maintains, and points out that even the best cook in the world can't make good yeast bread dough with flour intended for other purposes.

"When you start with Gladiola Hard Wheat," she says, "your dough has strength and character you can see and feel. When you push it, it pushes back. It's 'bouncy'—almost as if it's alive and breathing. Smooth as silk, too, not sticky with starch. And it's a flavor-holder, not a flavor-loser."

GLADIOLA SPECIAL HARD WHEAT FLOUR

Baking a 'Joy'

Mrs. Moerbe believes Gladiola's Baking-Recipe-of-the-Month contest will stimulate new interest in yeast bread baking—especially among young wives. "It's not a mysterious art," she insists. "It's a joy, and more people ought to know about it."

Complete information about the contest, which pays $200 in cash prizes every month, appears in this issue of Glad Times.

11 CASH PRIZES EVERY MONTH

Here are easy contest rules

1. Anyone may enter Gladiola's Baking-Recipe-of-the-Month contest except employees (and their families) of Fant Milling Co., its affiliated companies and its advertising agency.
2. Write down your favorite baking recipe using Gladiola Special Hard Wheat Flour. List all ingredients, then explain briefly each step in the procedure.
3. Cut off the strip that says "Gladiola Special Hard Wheat Flour" from the folder enclosed in every bag. Send it--with your recipe, name and address—to Glad Times, Sherman, Texas.
4. You may send in as many recipes as you wish. Mail each recipe in a separate envelope, enclosing a Gladiola strip as explained in Rule No. 3.
5. Each month's recipes are judged separately, with an independent graduate home economist as the final judge. Recipes received in January will be eligible for prizes to be announced in April.
6. For the outstanding recipe received each month, Gladiola will pay $100. Half the prize money—$50—goes to the homemaker who submitted the recipe. The remaining $50 goes to the church of her choice as her special contribution.
7. Ten other recipes will be chosen each month for Honorable Mention prizes of $10 each.
8. All recipes submitted become the property of Fant Milling Company, Sherman, Texas, with full publication rights. Recipes cannot be returned.

GLAZED APRICOT DOUGHNUTS

Gladiola's Baking Recipe of the Month

Mrs. Moerbe's Glazed Apricot Doughnuts

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 cups boiling water
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup warm water
1 package active dry yeast
2 teaspoons sugar
9 (or more) cups sifted Gladiola Special Hard Wheat Flour
½ cup apricot jam
Deep fat for frying

Place shortening, sugar and salt in large mixing bowl. Pour boiling water over and cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast and 2 teaspoons sugar in ½ cup water. Stir eggs and yeast into cooled mixture. Stir in enough Gladiola Special Hard Wheat Flour to make a soft dough. Work dough in the bowl until smooth, about 10 minutes. Cover and place in refrigerator overnight to rise.

Punch down, divide and roll on lightly floured board to a very thin sheet. Cut rounds with a large biscuit cutter. On half the rounds place a scant teaspoonful of apricot jam or preserves, top with remaining rounds and pinch edges to seal. Let stand 15 minutes.

Have ready fat heated to 370°. Drop doughnuts into hot fat, turning to brown. Drain; while still warm, coat with a thin layer of powdered sugar glaze. Dough will keep 3 or 4 days in the refrigerator. Makes 4 to 5 dozen filled doughnuts.

IRS Officials Outline Rules For Tax Return

Requirements for filing Federal income tax returns for 1959 were announced here today by A. P. Andrews, administrative Officer of Internal Revenue at Temple.

To sum it up -- most people with $600 or more of gross income for 1959 must file a return with Uncle Sam. Every citizen or resident of the U. S. A. -- whether adult or minor -- who had $600 or more gross income in 1959 must file, if 65 or over $1,200 or more However, if your're self - employed, you file a return if your self-employment income was $400 or more, even though your gross income was less than $600.

The Revenue representative added these potent points: A person with income of less than these amounts should file a '59 return to get a refund if tax was withheld -- A married person with income less than her (his) own personal exemptions should file a joint return with husband or wife to get the smaller tax or larger refund for the couple ..... In determining income in a community property State, such as Texas, the total combined income of husband and wife is considered one half attributable to each. Members of Armed Forces should give name, service serial number, and permanent home address.

Taxpayers are urged to file thier returns for '59 with their IRS District Director as soon after January 1, 1960, as possible. Although the filing deadline is April 15, folks who wait until the last minute find it more difficult to get technical help the nearer the final day approaches. Also, last minute filers make more costly errors in their returns. Checks or money orders for any tax due should be clipped, not stapled, to the return and should be made payable to the "Internal Revenue Service."

Use Old Records To Plan Ahead

COLLEGE STATION — Were profits made from your farming or ranching operations in 1959? If improvement is needed, consider carefully your plans for the new year.

When good farm records are summarized they may reflect vital points of slack in the business, points out C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist. Some operators are using their financial records primarily for income tax reporting. Others are getting an "extra" dividend of stabilizing their future plans by study of all records. Records may be used somewhat as a mariner's compass to direct the future course of operations.

How may cost reductions be made? One example may be by study of the major item of operation costs -- that of machinery and equipment, says the specialist. As mechanization and labor - saving practices are extended to more operations, ownership of some equipment items may become prohibitive for small costs. Careful consideration should be given to custom service or joint ownership of equipment items if savings will result.

Similarly, such practices as the purchase of feed in bulk or during seasons of lowest prices may reduce costs in livestock operations. A small percentage saving on major, recurring cost items can boost profits materially.

Now is the time to review last year's business to plan adjustments prompted by the current outlook situation. Also, emphasizes Bates, consideration should be given to every opportunity for reducing operating costs per unit of output.

Use your farm records in discussing plans for 1960 operations if assistance is desired from county extension agents. Records, Bates adds, may be especially helpful when credit is needed to expand or adjust operations.

See your local county agricultural agent for assistance in record keeping and management problems. Where intensive management problems exist, your county agent has access to trained specialists in the field of management.

Outdoors In Texas

Sports Boost Business

By Vern Sanford

Did you ever stop to consider the economic value of hunting and fishing in Texas?

Some people think of these two great outdoor sports as significant only to tourist courts, camp operators, marine services, and similar businesses located along the coast or near our lakes and our streams.

Not so.

It doesn't matter where you live, if you are in business you'll benefit, as some of the two hundred million dollars that hunters and fishermen spend in Texas every year comes to you, directly. Maybe you've got a business statistics expert handy who can tell you, offhand, the indirect benefits.

I didn't pick that two hundred million dollar figure out of the air. A few years ago the Texas Game and Fish Commission employed the Crossley pollsters to make a survey. Results showed that the total expenditure for hunting and fishing in Texas was $165,054,000. That was in 1955. This total has increased by thirty - five million dollars, or more, since that time.

If the total figure doesn't impress you, consider this fact. Texans spend twice as much money to hunt and fish as they do for admission to all football, baseball, and basketball games, all other spectator sports, all movies and all other stage attractions combined. I mean the sum total of all of them!

Research also reveals that the hunting and fishing bill of Texans is greater than the total amount spent for medical care, plus dental care, plus hospitalization insurance.

Here is another interesting fact ..... 27 per cent of all Texans twelve years of age and older go fishing or hunting every year. The biggest group is fishermen - 15 per cent.

Here's how the angler's dollar was spent: 65 cents for the trip; 1.2 cents miscellaneous; 32.6 cents for equipment; and 1.2 cents for licenses.

The hunter's dollar went like this 35 cents for the trip; 15.5 cents for miscellaneous; 45 cents for equipment; and 4.5 cents for licenses.

Take your town - any town. In every other household there is at least one hunter or fisherman, or both. When these men and women start for the outdoors, they must have supplies, food clothing, equipment, gasoline, and many other necessities, for the trip.

Your town may be far from the river, lake, or coast, but there are hunters and fishermen in your town, by the hundreds. Not only that, but other hunters and fishermen pass through your town on the highway. They eat at the cafes. Sometimes they spend the night at your hotel or tourist court. They buy ice, fishhooks, flashlights batteries, refreshments, cigars, cigarettes, chewing tobacco, playing cards, artificial lures, ammunition, sunglasses, aspirin, and who knows what else?

Now, just to be sure that we're not placing too much emphasis on one survey, let's turn to another and see what we find. This one was taken by Beldon Associates of Dallas. It has to do with salt water sport fishing in Texas.

Over a period of one year three-quarter of a million Texans fished in the salt waters of the state.

They caught 37,024,000 pounds of speckled trout, red fish, flounder and drum. They also captured 3,000,000 pounds of shrimp.

If you value their catch at 40 cents per pound the total was worth $16,009,600 - and that my friend, is economic value.

You can eat it, too.

Most of the salt water fishermen went to the Galveston - Freeport area (38 per cent) or the Corpus Christi - Aransas Pass area (36 per cent). But all sections of the coast had their visitors.

Out of every one hundred persons, 22 traveled 99 miles or less to reach their favorite fishing spot. Six percent toured 110 to 199 miles. Four percent moved 200 to 299 miles, and three percent wandered 300 miles or more from home base.

Fishing from a boat is the most popular method along the coast, with pier and jetty fishing next and wading or surf fishing third.

Fishing continues all year round in Texas. Here we're not as concerned about closed seasons as shooting deer, turkeys, doves, quail, ducks, and geese -- in their respective seasons -- there also are many fishermen pursuing the fresh or salt water fish, at the same time.

Serious hunters make theirs a year roun dsport too. When it is out of season for some species, they may go for rabbits, squirrels crows, or varmits. They may unlimber the gun for a little trap shooting or they may take the trusty twenty - two rifle out for a bit of target practice.

Hunting and fishing are high on the list of attractions that lure tourists to Texas.

Our hunting is excellent. We can point with pride to the Hill Country deer and turkey; to our fine dove and quail shooting; and to the duck and geese hunting along the coast.

Our fishing is unsurpassed. "They bite every day" on the coast -- is no exaggeration. In our lakes, rivers, streams, and farm ponds, there are unlimited bass, crappe, bream, and catfish.

Summing it up -- Texas has hunting and fishing resources galore -- economic values that hardly have been touched.

1960 ... A Big Year

With 1960 due to see the regular presidential election-year race, it would seem that business and agriculture are gearing themselves as well for a big year.

A recent report on farming in Central Texas indicated that farm income in this area was up over 1958 despite a national trend in increased costs and lower net profit for farmers. (See story inside.)

Major development during the past week that influences even Cameron and Milam County is settlement of the steel strike.

From an outsider's vantage point, it looks as if steel followed in line with aluminum's wage settlement and lost a dominant position as the nation's pacesetter in wage agreements.

This would have a direct bearing on the economy of Milam County. If steel continues to find it difficult to meet price competition of foreign steel manufacturers and replacement materials such as aluminum, production of the light weight metal would normally increase to meet greater demand. If the wage increases cause another rise in steel prices, the cost of living spiral would continue upward.

A presidential election year often means a wait-and-see attitude in business circles. But the backlog of steel orders and a predicted 1960 surge in the general economy might offset the usual pattern.

All the experts anticipate a continued trend toward bigger farms and more commercial-type development in all kinds of farm operations.

Of course Milam County will have candidates in County, precinct races and Cameron will have elections for school and city council positions, an annual event.

It will be a challeging, interesting year in Milam County and throughout the nation.

The Little River Philosopher

New Idea Urging People To Study How To Loaf

Dear editar:

I started the new year off successfully, a business man in Cameron gave me a 1960 calendar wrapped in a copy of a newspaper and since I don't pay much attention to a new calendar, haven't used my old one yet, I layed it aside and tackled the newspaper, as soon as I got home and got my feet popped up.

According to an article in it, a University of Chicago Professor has done a lot of research on modern man and has come up with the conclusion that man's goal now is leisure, that the idea that work is the most creative expression of man's daily life is obsolete, and the educational institutions must re-examine their principles and "gear education to the use of leisure time."

I won't go into his ideas on work, that's out of my field, but I'll admit it's news to me that his college professor seems to think you have to be educated to loaf.

When I look back on my "education" I don't seem to recall that it was geared for leisure. What loafing I've managed to do, in school or out, was accomplished on my own. If educators are setting out to teach people how to enjoy their leisure time, I believe I could hire out as a professor right now.

The trouble with college professors when they start theorizing about modern man is that they stump their toe before they get started. Modern man is no different from old - fashioned man, except he's better organized. His mass production is better organized, his social life is better organized, His wars are better organized, his crime is better organized, his schools are better organized, his tax-gathering is better organized, his charity is better organized, his games are better organized, but when it comes to loafing, I prefer mine unorganized.

If I've got time to spend studying how to loaf, I believe I'd perfer to use it loafing. Some people just can't be educated.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

Control Board Shops For 200

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — If you are adding up the Christmas bills and wondering what all that money was spent for, then consider the task of the Board of Control.

This relatively small state department is personal shopper for 200 state agencies. During the past fiscal year it selected the goods and paid the bills for purchases totaling $80,000,000.

These millions went for more items than the average citizen can imagine. Everyone realizes that it requires tons of paper, thousands of filing cabinets, typewriters, desks, and chairs to run the state's business ..... but—

Even wonder how much yellow paint it takes to put a stripe down the highway from Amarillo to Brownsville?

Board of Contol staff knows just how much to get for a given stretch of road and sees to it that the paint has little glass beads ground up into it to reflect your auto headlights at night. Just the other day they bought $100,000 worth of the little glass beads, alone.

Board of Control buys all the state's automobiles — as well as trucks, tractors, motor scooters, motor graders, snow plows and school busses (for schools receiving state aid). Last week they purchased $326,000 worth of new Plymouths.

It buys the industrial machinery with which the state prison system makes the state license plates. It buys the paper for your drivers license and pays for the printing.

It also buys buttons and zippers and shoes and socks and surgical tools and skin diving suits.

"W buy practically everything" says Executive Director William J. Burke.

It's a list that sounds unbelieveable until the use for each item is run down. Clothing and repair needs for the apparel of the thousands of persons in state hospitals and schools must be bought by the Board of Control. State hospitals use surgical equipment. Game and Fish Commission uses boats and skin diving equipment in its inspection work.

If the State School for Girls at Gainsville starts a pottery class, Board of Control buys the clay. If the prison system builds a new prison building, Board of Control scouts around for the best buy in steel - barred doors.

Board of Control itself is a big user of paper. In the past fiscal year it processed 450,000 invoices. Nine employes handled these at the rate of 1,921 a day. It takes 15,000 envelopes to handle an average weekly mailing of bid invitations to suppliers.

It's all done according to a very businesslike system. Purchases are consolidated, standardized, scheduled, bid on and checked for specifications, value and performance.

Yet all this procedure doesn't kill the element of human enjoyment. Director Burke recounts with relish the million printed envelopes just bought for a large state department at $2.80 a thousand. That is less than the usual cost of unprinted envelopes.

Comparable pleasure can be found in housewives who have just found diapers at a dollar a dozen or tomato juice at five cents a can.

Board of Control is about to have its 40th anniversary. It began operation in 1929 after a statute passed in 1919 combined in one agency a number of state functions.

It is topped by a part-time policy making board whose three members serve overlapping six-year terms. They are appointed by the governor.

Present board members are E. E. McAdams of Austin, chairman; F. H. Flewellen of Austin and C. F. McAuliff of Dallas.

Burke, as executive director is the top administrative officer. Under him are five divisions set up on what he terms 'a check - and balance system."

A specification division works out requirements for items to be bought. Purchasing division buys them. Administrative services division handles the clerical work. Inspection division has a team of "watchdogs" who go over the state to check new purchases to be sure they're what they should be.
